THE MARKETS.

Operations on Wall Street Large and Prices Stiff.

Excitement Caused by the Pallure of a Heavy Commission House.

Special Dispatch. New York, Feb. 18.—The market opened weak, and there was an effort to depress prices the first hour. Then the Union Pacific was pushed up, and the market moved with it. The bulk of the business centered in Union Pacific and Delaware and Lackawanna. There was a sharp borrowing demand in Union Pacific, the stock lending b to a per day. Lackawanna was held up by the bull pool in this stock, and there was considerable trading in St. Paul, Northwestern, and Missouri Pacific.

About 1 o'clock there was a reaction in the active list, and a fractional advance just be-fore the 2:15 p. m. deliveries. After that hour Union Pacific broke. St. Paul followed suit, and the market ran down steadily. About one minute before closing, the format announcement of McGinnis Brothers & Bar-ing was read from the stock exchange rosing was read from the stock exchange rostrum, demoralization was about setting when the gong announcing the close was heard, and the market closed with great excitement. Privilege brokers say Sage is salling calls on Western Union telegraph very close to the market, but is very timid on his puts, and asks very low quotations on them.

The Bankers and Merchant's Telegraph commany completed two New York-Boston wires

The Bankers and Morchaut's Telegraph company completed two New York-Boston wires Saturday, and will have eight more inside of fifteen days. Feeling on Union Pacific continues very strong, and the leaders promise it will be higher before Saturday night.

It is claimed that the short interest in Union Pacific continues increasing, and a twist is liable to morrow or Wednesday, account books closing to morrow. The Gould party is said to have taken 75,000 shares of Union Pacific out of the street, and Mr. Edward Sweet & Co. are carrying an enormous amount of this stock. The Vanderbilt and Cable conflict increases in bittorness, and it is thought the present Rock Island administration will be able to retain control without young on the $8,000,000 treasury stock.

The Pacific Mail people say the South voting on the $8,000,000 treasury stock.

The Pacific Mail people say the South American traffic is so large that it is difficult to handle the freight offsring.

A block of Postal Telegraph stock was sold to the Baltimore people at $7 shares on Saturday and advanced to $8.25 bid; the bonds advanced to 58.

It was reported in stock board that a short interest of 10,000 shares of Union Pacific was privately settled on Saturday at $5.

J. Q. Savage failed on petroleum exchange. He was long, and about 200,000 barrels have been bought and sold on his account. Kiernan's special says: Mr. Feating, of the firm of McGinnes, Bros. & Fearing says the failure is owing to the break in Northern Pacific stocks, which seriously embarrassed their stocks, which seriously embarrassed their customers. The house was in business since 1864, and the Chicago connection has no re-sponsibility for the suspension of the New York house. The New York house owes the York house. The New York house owes the Chicago house, and efforts will be made to keep the Chicago branch from susponsion.

Court of Claims.

The court of ciaims yesterday dismissed the cases of the Great Western Insurance company; Jacob R. Telfare, receiver, John P. Paulison, receiver, and the Sun Mutual Insurance company—all of New York—for want of Jurisdiction. These are insurance case arising out of the Geneva award. The claims were brought in the court of claims to recover from the government the amount of their claims, on the ground that the united States in collecting the money from Great Britain under the Geneva award acted as their agent and was under implied obligations to pay their claims. The court hold that there was no such obligation, as the money was received from Great Britain by the United States in His capacity as sovereign and that the rights of the individual claimants were entirely merged in the award, the distribution of which rested entirely in the discretime of the United States as sovereign.

The court rendered judgment against W. Fleet Steele for $1,500. This was a claim under a contract for plumbing work done on a naval yeard at the League Island navy yard. The court held that he had been overpaid. Judgments were rendered in favor of E. A. McChire and Charles F.
Porter for $1,120, each for money due on contracts, is the case of Lient Charles Moston, U. J. A., the court held that the term of an officers of the army, while at study in the military scadeny, must be considered as service in the army, and also considered in computing longevity pay. This is an important decision and affects all the officers of the army.

THE TRANSMIGRATIONISTS.

The Vacious Parts Which Sundry Notables Expect to Play in the Hereafter.

San Francisco Post.
"Derrick Dodd" in a humorous article about "transmigration" says: At the risk of offending some of these personages, we proeced to mention a few in relation to their peculiar views concerning the future destination of their immortal part. Ex-Secretary James G. Blaine firmly believes, though he admits it but to a few intimate friends, that his future existence will be in the shape of an oyster. He carries his adherence to this apparently absurd conviction to such lengths that he never eats an oyster under any circumstances, and will oven turn out of his path rather than step even turn out of his path rather than step upon the shell of one. While speaker, nothing annoyed Mr. Biaine so much as to have some of his joke-leving friends place a few shells on his official seat, edge upward.

Senator David Davis believes his soul will transmigrate into the body of a crane. "This were a transformation and a change indeed."

The late Adelaide Nellson always asserted that her own soul once inhabited a beetle, "Think a pretty green and sold beetle."

"Think, a pretty green and gold beetle," she once said to the writer. General Custer believed that his incorpor-ent part belonged alternately to men and lions.

Fauny Davenport claims to be the direct descendant, spiritually speaking, of a causel, which odd fancy is doubless the origin of her mania for camel's hair abawls.

Nicholas Luning is said to entertain some private theory concerning a pig.

De Lesseps, the engineer, maintains that he is to be a fish in the shadowy land of the future, though the theory of natural selection would have suggested a mole.

Dion Boucleault is possessed with the notion that he was formerly a fig.

Dion Boucicault is possessed with the notion that he was formerly a fly.

Plunger Walton, an enthusiast upon the transmigration theory, by the way, bolieves that one day he shall win the Derby as a horse—a Kentucky one at that.

Henry Winter Davis was a transmigrationist, as were Lord Palmerston, George Peabody, the late Count Chambord, Prof. Smithson, and, queerly enough, Boss Tweed. The latter doubtless set out to etherially wind up as a butterfly, but we saw an 1,100 pound prize bog at the Petaluma fair that gazed round with an unmistakably "What are you goin' to do about it?" expression that filled us with prefound awe.

Miss Jeffreys-Lewis firmly cherishes the conviction that her body is inspired by the soul of a panther. Her rooms contain innumerable pictures of the jungle king, and she is said to possess several thousand dollars' worth of their sking. To see this clover are worth of their sking.

merable pictures of the jungle king, and she is said to possess several thousand dollars' worth of their skins. To see this clover exponent of the electrically-emotional drama extended upon a sofa in the twilight, her lissome figure covered by a Bengal tiger rug and her handsome eyes gleaming luminously from beneath her bangs, is a sight calculated to fill Gordon Cummings with joy, and make almost any hunter wish for his gun.

Sam Ward, the genial "king of the lobby," and the prince of diners-out, entertains, in common with Von Moltke, the idea that he will eventually become a deer, although a spider would seem to more antly suggest the genius of the foremost strategist of any age. At all events, it is an easily verified fact that Ward's will contains an explicit bequest for the maintenance of a park derr in royal comfort, one of which fortunate animals he evidently counts upon being.

Guiteau, of hated memory, is said to have claimed descent from an eagle, althoug a buzzerd wards.

arable land in the state the inhabitants have been leaving in large numbers for now mining fields, until it is not uncommon to see places which were once populous now almost entirely deserted. The result of all this is that a very few persons have to pay all the expenses of maintaining a state government, and there is much grumbling in consequence. Outside of the office holders and some few who are in an attitude of expectancy, there is hardly a property owner in the state who would not gladly welcome a return to territorial condition, were such a thing possible, and thus throw upon the general government the expenses now borne by the people. But once a state always a state "is the doctrine But"once a state always a state" is the doctrine of this union, and Novada must stand up to the rack as long as there is a voter left within her borders. No matter how small her population may become, she will con-tinue to have one representative and two senators in congress.

ABOUT PLAY PEOPLE.

Mr. Wallack's health, according to last reports, has not improved in Florida. Miss Marie Prescott has been engaged by Mr. Stevens for a starring tour through the coun-

J. H. Haverly is in Indianapolis attending a meeting of the directors of his various min-ing companies. This business will occupy him for the next three weeks.

E. G. Tuckerman, passenger agent of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, reports that he has ticketed more professionals through the south this season than was ever known be-fore.

Manager James E. Fennessy, of Heuck's theater, Cincinnati, donated $1,000 tickets, representing a cash value $500, to the relief committee of that city in aid of the local flood

The western floods have laid up many com-panies for lenger or shorter periods, running from one night to three. Other companies have been compelled to diverge from their routes and make other dates.

Paulin Markham plays a leading part in On the Yellowstone at the Cosmopolitan, New York. Miss Markham was a legitimate ac-tress in England before she became identified with burlesque. Her intention is to stick to the dramatic line in future.

W. A. McConnell and W. R. Hayden are w. A. Motonich and W. R. Hayden are interested with Allison and Rignold in the purchase of the English melodrama called The New Babylon. McConnell and Hayden will run the piece in this country, and the other partners will take care of it in Austra-

Mr. Henry E. Abbey will mauage the Joachim Concert company next senson. Be-sides this he has already made two impor-tant engagements, which, for reasons, cannot be divulged. But nothing is yet decided about the Metropolitan Opera house, and will not be till spring.

The difference between Miss Jeffreys Lowis and Mr. James Allison have been settled by telegraph and Miss Lewis starts at for Australia, where she is to open in Belasco's La Belle Russe. After making a tour of the colonies in that play, she will perform Fedoro for another year in the same quarter.

Mrs. Henderson's new play called Clare and the Forge Master will be produced next Wednesday in Jorsey City. During the following week it is to be played in Boston, with Mrs. Agnes Booth in the principal part. After that it goes on the road with Miss Cranger as the leading feature of the organization, which is backed and managed by Mr. Henderson.

There are 318 theaters in Great Britain, Of this number 37 are in London, 11 in Liver-pool, 5 in Edinburg, and 4 each in Glasgow, Blackburn, Blackpool, Ramsgate, and Stockton on Tess. In Ireland there are only 10, including music halls. In the last year, ending Nov. 30, 153 new plays were produced in London, and about 160 in the provinces. Of the 153, 33 were produced at the Gaiety, the favorite matinge house.

Josephine Gallmeyer, who died in Vienni the other day, was a favorite of the footlights for twenty years before her death. She never was a heauty, but her genius carried her to the front rank of her profession. She was on the front rank of her profession. She was on intimate terms with princes royals and the mobility and lived in the most extravagant style. In 1882 she made a successful tour in the United States, but a sudden spell of sickness out short her engagement and she returned to Europe. The popular actress died in poverty, leaving behind her nothing but her certificate of baptism. She desired her body to be dissected in the interests of science, but her friends protested and gave her a great funeral.

A representative of the Mirror was greatly astonished to come face to face with Dr. Hamilton Griffin on Broadway Tuesday after-Hello, Doctor. Thought you were in "I came here unexpectedly, and did not make my presence known. Arrived on the Gallia last week and sailed again on the same cialia last week and sailed again on the same ship."

"Your stay is brief."

"Yes. I had some finantical business to attend to in Kentucky. It took all the time I had between sailing to get through with it."

"You are gratified with Miss Anderson's success, no doubt?"

"Elated, my boy—elated is the word. She has captured 'em, and no mistake."

"What's the truth about Lotta?"

"She was doing splendidly when I left. She was slaughtered at first by bad management. I never saw such wretched handling in my life. Her director followed up one mistake by another. But the little woman is all right now. She has won her spurs despite it competence within the theater and opposition without."

The doctor looked well, happy, and prosperous. He left yesterday morning at 6 o'clock-

ous. He left yesterday morning at 6 o'clock-on the Gallia.—New York Mirror.
